

Advice or Philosophy . . .

. . . take your pick, but I predict that poetry we write today which may still have effect in fifty years,
 or five hundred,
has little connection to who won what prize now or got published in which prestigious collection..

Steve Bloom
April 2003