

Blindfolded

You cannot use your eyes.

I place you in a playground,
somewhere.

All you hear is children chasing, laughing. Will you be able to tell me
the color of their skin?

September 2005