

Losses

A song sung long ago declared that love was all I'd ever need yet never told me what to do the day love turned her back on me.

I once believed the truth would set me free, no matter how much others scorned, but now a time has come when truth just seems another loss to mourn.

Steve Bloom
August 2000