

Thank-You Note

Yesterday you called a friend, read him one of the poems in the booklet I gave you. I know, because today he told me.

And I realize that if I live another hundred years, win a thousand prizes for my words, there will never be another more treasured.

Steve Bloom
February 2006