

Waiting

A friend said not to worry great thinkers are never appreciated until twenty years after they are dead.

But I worry still, because I do not want to wait more than five.

Steve Bloom
February 2003