

You Left the Room . . .

. . . before the reading was over.
I had no chance to tell you that your poem was the best of all I heard this evening.

May never get that chance.

So I am writing these lines to let everyone else know.

Steve Bloom
May 2007